

GREECE IS BOILING HOT.

THE WAR FEELING IN A FEARFUL STATE OF INTENSITY.

Fearful of Exchanging Shots the Greek Fleet Retreats to Prevent Being Bottled Up—An Outrage on the Sea by a Turkish Man-of-War—Foreign News.

ATHENS, Feb. 23.—The war feeling among the Greek people has been intense to a fearful state of intensity by the movements of the allied fleet in the Mediterranean, and the threat of the powers to disable or blockade the Greek squadron. A calist crisis is imminent, Premier Delagandis, overruled by the firm attitude of England and the other powers, fears to order the Greek commander to make even a formal exchange of shots with Admiral Sir John Hay, and hence the Greek fleet has retreated to Baboia to prevent being bottled up in Salamis bay.

This is terribly galling to the ministers of war and marine, and they have notified the premier that they resign units war against Turkey is immediately declared, and as to give Greece belligerent rights and prevent further interference by the powers except as declared allies of the powers.

Great indignation exists over a dispatch from Salonica announcing the search of an arm Greek merchantman by a Turkish man-of-war. A number of the torpedoes which had been placed in the channels of Salonica bay have lately been stolen and carried away. This work was of course credited to the Greeks, and as there was no Greek man-of-war in these waters it was suspected that the stolen torpedoes were being sent away on trading steamer.

The Greek steamship Omnia was accordingly overhauled by a Turkish gunboat. Her manifest and other papers were examined and found to be perfectly regular. The captain of the Omnia denied that he had any torpedoes on board but the Turkish commander refused to believe him. The captain was therefore arrested, transferred to the gunboat and put under a guard of marines. The Omnia was then thoroughly searched, but no torpedoes were found, the captain was finally released and the steamer allowed to proceed.

REMARKABLE TRIAL.

Charged with Murder—Sentenced to be Hanged—For Life—Now Free.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 23.—James H. Marler, charged with the murder of Dr. Wm. B. Colquitt, was acquitted in the circuit court of Crenshaw county, and one of the most remarkable cases on record is settled. Dr. Colquitt was brutally murdered in his own yard, August 16, 1878. He was killed by N. A. Redmond. It was charged that Marler hired Redmond to do the shooting and paid him $50.

Redmond was in love with Marler's sister and Marler promised that he would force his sister to run away with Redmond. The murder was one of the most shocking ever committed in Alabama. Redmond was arrested, tried, convicted and is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary. Marler was arrested as an accessory, and charged with the murder. He has been in prison seven years and seven months on the same indictment. He was twice convicted of murder, once sentenced to be hanged and once sentenced to imprisonment for life. Now he goes free.

A NEW TRIAL.

Granted After a Sentence of Twenty Years For Murder.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 23.—The Supreme court granted W. L. Boyd, a young man, connected with some of the wealthiest and most prominent families in the state, a new trial on the charge of murdering Birdie Patterson, his mistress, in this city, July 5, 1883. Boyd is under a sentence of twenty years' imprisonment, and this is the second time the case has been before the Supreme court, which reversed the verdict of the lower tribunal because of errors in the charge to the jury respecting circumstantial evidence.

The woman was shot in the breast while she and Boyd were in her room. She died instantly, and Boyd, who was intoxicated, claimed that she had committed suicide. The two had frequent quarrels, and she had said on several occasions she was tired of life. The deceased was well known in southern cities.

Shot in the Leg.

New York, Feb. 23.—John McCullough, a Bostonian, was shot in the leg by Oliver Lewis at the corner of Third and Madison streets. According to one statement, McCullough and a man named John White were quarrelling when Oliver Lewis drew his revolver and shot McCullough. Another story is to the effect that White and Lewis were drunk and forced a quarrel with McCullough and White while drinking at the bar. McCullough's wound is not dangerous.

Said State of Affairs.

WILKESBARRE, Feb. 23.—The officers of the Susquehanna Coal company are very much afraid that the men constituting the rescuing party at slope No. 1, will, within the next twenty-four hours, quit work, as they have reached very close to the point of the cave in which there is great danger ahead. They have no means of escape should another rush of sand and rock come. Should they refuse to work it is probable that no other men can be found to take their place. Therefore, the twenty-six bodies of the miners, who were entombed December 18, will forever remain in the pit.

Elevated Bonds.

New York, Feb. 23.—Cyrus W. Field is preparing to put a new mortgage on the elevated railway system and disburse bonds to the amount of $1,000,000 or more to be issued soon. He is friends in the Manhattan railway board of directors, it is said, have personally subscribed for the greater part of the loan. Unwisely the reason for doing these new bonds is to provide for new equipment. Jay Gould, it is said, is not inclined to take a large interest in the new bonds.

on School Religion and a Hand Saw.

PRATT, Ill., Feb. 23.—At Elmhurst, a village of this city, Clarence J. Sears, over twenty years of age, quarrelled with his wife on the subject of religion. He took a hand saw and dashed her so fearfully that she died in a few hours. Sears is in jail.

TYPHOID FEVER.

I am sixty-seven years old, and have lived in this (Hilly) county all my life. Up to twenty-eight years ago I was regarded as the strongest man in the neighborhood—the most robust in health. In November, 1864, I had a long and serious spell of typhoid fever. It left me emaciated and a cripple in my right leg. At times that limb was swollen an enormous size, being twice as large as its natural condition, and inflamed and very in pain. From my knee down small sores came out at the ankle a large ulcer came which discharged poisonous matter. My whole system became inflamed. The doctors would patch me up for awhile, but the ulcer would never heal. The mercury and poison with which they dosed me brought on rheumatism and dyspepsia. I was an object of pity to all my friends. Some thought that the only hope to save me was amputation. I continued to grow worse, and for three years I had not a word of hope. Hope had almost left me, when Dr. Swift's Specific was suggested and I commenced its use at once. From the very first I felt better. I have taken thirty or thirty-five bottles, and the shadows which had darkened my life for twenty-eight years have all been dissipated. The effect of the medicine has been wonderful indeed. To-day I am able to attend to all my business interests, and walk from one to five miles per day. I am satisfied that the disease is entirely broken up, and henceforth I am able to be free from those long and painful attacks which have so long tormented me. My life is now as pleasant as ever. I have been prescribed by physicians for the twenty-eight years and must cheerfully bear the testimony of my friends. WILLIAM R. REED, Full County, Ga., Feb. 23, 1885.

From The Discharging Room.

Having taken Dr. Swift's Specific for blood poison contracted at a medical college at a dissection, while I was a medical student, I am grateful to say that it gave me a speedy and permanent cure after my parents had spent hundreds of dollars for treatment. My arm was swollen to twice its natural size, and as nothing helped me I was despairing of ever being cured. After the taking of Dr. S. S. I bought a bottle little thinking I would derive any benefit from it. I began taking it regularly, and soon the swelling began to subside and the arm ceased to pain me. I continued its use, and after taking eight bottles was thoroughly cured.
